

EFT – Emotional Freedom Techniques

This 3 day course (run over two weekends) is a “must” for all those who consider themselves successful professional therapists. Deborah Bromley, who is an experienced EFT Practitioner and Trainer, will run the course.

The course starts with a Foundation day and concludes with a 2 day Practitioner course which will, on satisfactory completion, lead to an ICH EFT Practitioner Certificate. Assessment is based on a practical EFT session and continuous assessment throughout the 2 day Practitioner course.

This popular course is held over three days to cover not only the core practitioner level syllabus but also to allow time for in depth EFT experiential work and to learn the “Choices” method which complements EFT beautifully. Experience has shown that competence with this powerful technique is dependant on practise, so the period between the two course dates allows students to become confident with the delivery of EFT so they can go on to master the delivery of EFT as a therapeutic intervention. The course includes a significant level of practical work and participants must be prepared to practise hard and have fun as well!
